

Moon exploration going well

Astronauts to investigate lunar landslide

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — In the valley of Taurus-Littrow, a gray geologic wonder dotted with auto-sized boulders, two Americans rested on the moon today. Tonight they search a lunar landslide for perhaps the most ancient rocks ever seen.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt slept late in their craft, Challenger. They were bonetired from a near-perfect lunar landing and nearly seven hours setting up a sophisticated scientific camp and scouting the surrounding terrain.

Tonight, the 11th and 12th—perhaps last—men to visit the moon in this century, will drive their electric-powered car, Rover, to a mountain slide on the South Massif which spilled rock debris across the valley in some ancient time.

There, they hope to find rocks created in the process by which the moon was formed and shaped, material dating perhaps to lunar beginnings 4.6 billion years ago.

Overhead, alone aboard the command ship America, the third Apollo spaceman, Ronald E. Evans, also rested. Tonight he will operate an array of science instruments and cameras which study the moon from orbit.

The valley was everything and more than they had expected. Boulders larger than panel trucks, coated with glass and pitted from the impact of meteorites, choked the valley floor like icebergs floating on a gray, dead sea. They saw glass sparkling in craters and looked long at the mountains, which appeared soft, as though covered with fur.

Cernan unwrapped an American flag which once was displayed in the Mission Control Center, and the explorers planted their nation's sixth banner on the moon.

"Deploying that flag has got to be one of the most proud moments in my life," said Cernan.

"This flag has flown in Mission Control since Apollo 11 (the first landing). We very proudly deploy it on the moon to stay for as long as it can in honor of all those people who have worked so hard to put us and every crew here and to make the U.S. and mankind something different than it was."

Quickly, the spacemen learned that exploring the moon can be a dirty business. Both fell down, and their suits, which seemed to glow ghostlike in the blinding sunlight, quickly became smeared with the clinging gray dirt.

"I just got my first initiation to getting very dirty," said Schmitt after his first fall in the moon's low gravity. "I haven't quite learned how to pick up rocks with my hands yet... which is very embarrassing for a geologist. That's why I fell down."

The astronauts quickly deployed their lunar rover, and Cernan boarded the little car for a short test spin. "Challenger's baby is on the road!"

Freezing rain, snow, fog hit Midcontinent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An ice storm tabbed as "extremely dangerous" by the National Weather Service glazed a 12-state area today from the southern Plains to the middle Atlantic region.

Freezing rain and sleet pelted Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois,

Fear flooding on Ohio River

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Residents along the Ohio River kept a close eye on the water today as it crept above flood stage in the area for the first time in four and one-half years.

Only a few families had moved out of their residences by early today although thousands stood ready to put evacuation plans into motion if necessary.

Swollen by unusually heavy rains for this late in the year, the river passed flood stage of 52 feet at about 6 p.m. Monday and headed toward a predicted crest of 53.5 feet Wednesday morning. The U.S. Weather Service said the river could go even higher if precipitation forecast for today is substantial.

"I'm just praying that it doesn't get any higher," said Catherine Scott, a widow who lives in nearby California, Ohio, one of the first residential areas affected by a flood.

The U.S. Weather Service said the last time the river flooded in the area was when it climbed to 56.8 feet in May, 1968.

Rash of auto accidents County in grip of foul weather

The second ice storm in a week blanketed Fayette County overnight Monday, turning streets and roads into sheets of ice and causing the cancellation of classes in the Miami Trace School District and the Fayette Progressive School.

Motorists were hard put to negotiate secondary roads and streets safely Tuesday morning, although main arteries were salted and clear, except for some curves and bridges.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that roads began to slicken between 11 and 11:30 p.m. from sleet. Light sleet had begun falling earlier in the evening.

County School Superintendent Guy M. Foster, up at 5:30 a.m., to check road conditions, called off classes in the county district because of the condition of secondary roads and the danger they posed to school bus travel. Since many of the Fayette Progressive School students are from rural areas, those classes also were cancelled for the day. It was the third day this winter that classes have been cancelled in the county system.

THE CITY Police Department reported only two accidents by 8:30 a.m., one on Delaware Street and the other on Dayton Avenue. The City Street Department began salting major city streets at 11 p.m. and continued operations until about 2:30 a.m. This

Truman's condition unstable

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman's respiration, pulse and temperature were unstable overnight, the former president's doctors reported today.

A spokesman at Research Hospital and Medical Center said at 10 a.m. EST that the 88-year-old Truman's "vital signs became somewhat unstable during the night. Respiration, pulse and temperature increased. Blood pressure remains within normal limits."

The spokesman did not elaborate and did not supply specific pulse, temperature and blood pressure counts as has been the practice in previous briefings.

The hospital's three advisories Monday described Truman as resting, but doctors cautioned that his condition "still is serious and will continue so for an indefinite time."

Truman was taken to the hospital last Tuesday after he displayed symptoms of lung congestion. He failed to respond to antibiotic medication and was classified as critical Wednesday when kidney and heart problems developed.

Doctors closely monitored irregularities in Truman's heartbeat Monday night; but, during the final briefing, a hospital spokesman said the doctors made no further comments on his heart rhythm.

The 10 p.m. EST medical report said, "At President Truman's age, arteriosclerotic changes are expected. They affect the central nervous system and the kidney and heart functions to varying degrees."

Truman was taken off the critical list Sunday after he showed signs of general improvement.

U.N. retreats from action on terrorism

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The drive for U.N. action against international terrorism had collapsed today, crushed by a coalition of Arab, African, Asian and Communist countries. Western diplomats said the campaign for international legal measures would continue outside the world organization.

By a vote of 76-34, the General Assembly's legal committee approved a resolution Monday limiting U.N. action on terrorism during the coming year to a study of its causes. A similar result was expected in the assembly since all its members are members of the legal committee.

U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett Jr. said the purpose of the resolution was "indefinite delay."

"Others will take over this issue," he predicted. "The United Nations will lose what ought to be its primary role."

Bennett drew a parallel with the League of Nations — which, he said, "grew increasingly unwilling or unable to come to grips with the realities of its days and faded into the mists of history."

Peace in 2 to 3 days?

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho opened the 14th meeting of their secret peace talks today in a villa in suburban Gif-sur-Yvette.

Kissinger earlier unexpectedly dropped in on a subcommittee of the top negotiators' deputies discussing details of a possible agreement. Tho was not present.

At the end of the subcommittee meeting, Kissinger and the other participants drove the 12 miles to Gif-sur-Yvette.

It was the first time in four years of secret negotiations that Kissinger and Tho set up subcommittees to discuss details of a possible accord immediately before a plenary meeting. The quickened pace suggested that the talks were approaching a climax, but both sides maintained their blanket of secrecy.

French dispatches from Peking said Premier Chou En-lai told newsmen Monday: "An agreement could be signed in Paris in the next two or three days."

Expectations of a break in the negotiations were heightened by a report from Bangkok that U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger had briefed the key members of Thailand's ruling junta for an hour today on the progress of the Paris talks. Much of the U.S. air forces now carrying on the war against North Vietnam are based in Thailand.

The higher ranking subcommittee included William J. Porter, the chief U.S. delegate at the four-party Paris peace talks; William Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary of state for Southeast Asian affairs; Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief delegate at the weekly peace talks, and Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach. The other subcommittee was made up of technical experts.

Kissinger and Tho met for four hours Monday, beginning and ending with the usual broad smiles and cordial handshakes. It was their 13th meeting since they began three weeks ago to revise the ceasefire agreement they drafted in October.

In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu proposed the release of all prisoners of war on both sides, the observance of the annual Christmas cease-fire and separate negotiations during the cease-fire between his government and the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to work out a peace agreement and political settlement. He said the cease-fire could be extended as long as the Communists were willing to observe it.

The South Vietnamese president also

POMPAHO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A battered, leaking 56-foot sailboat grounded on a beach near luxury condominiums today carrying 65 Haitian refugees, 12 of whom said they bribed their way out of jail to flee their native land.

Police said the refugees, "packed like sardines" in their craft, included several elderly women who were ill and a 22-year-old woman who was five months pregnant.

repeated his persistent demand that all North Vietnamese troops withdraw from South Vietnam. This time he said that the South Vietnamese army would demobilize as many troops as the North Vietnamese withdraw.

Western political observers in Saigon predicted that Hanoi would reject or ignore the proposal, as it has similar Saigon plans in the past. Some South Vietnamese legislators said they found nothing new in Thieu's offer.

Shultz holds consultations on wage, price controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz lined up a series of closed-door consultations today to determine the future shape of wage-price controls that President Nixon wants to retain.

Sources said the Nixon administration wants to move "pretty swiftly" in the private talks with government, business and labor officials, hoping to wind up the consultations within three or four weeks.

This would mean the administration would be in a position to make a decision early in January. The sources indicated the present control structure, headed by the Cost of Living Council, the Price Commission and Pay Board, probably will remain in place.

Shultz, the President's chief economic policymaker, told economic policymakers, told newsmen Monday that the administration will seek extension of controls beyond their legal expiration date next April 30. In the meantime, talks with the people who control wages and prices and with the Production expansion planned in Washington C. H.

Redman announces changes in management

Redman Industries, Inc., which operates the Kirkwood Homes Division plant in the Washington C. H. Industrial Park, today announced two management changes and plans for improvements and an expansion at the Washington C. H. facility.

Jack Marti, formerly the general manager of Redman's Alma, Mich., plant, has been named to the position of general manager of the Washington C. H. plant. The Alma plant recently ceased production.

Don Chesney, formerly sales manager at the Alma facility, has been named in the same capacity for the Washington C. H. plant. Other management personnel in the Washington C. H. plant are: Ron Duckworth, production manager; James Rooks, materials manager; Larry Moran, controller, and Richard Kent, transportation manager.

general manager, said 1972 has been a record year for Redman Industries in Washington C. H. He said sales and production are up 140 per cent over 1971. He predicts an even larger increase during 1973.

During the Christmas - New Year's vacation period, the company will invest between $50,000 and $100,000 in improvements to the present plant, Marti said. These improvements will include both safety items and plant improvements for employees and represents plans in addition to a $50,000 in-plant improvement program already completed this year.

Redman Industries presently is searching for a separate building in the Washington C. H. area for an expansion to build double-wide mobile homes, Marti announced. He also said the plant's final line will be extended next spring with an planned addition to Man fined, jailed in trust case

A variety of criminal cases, including an indecent exposure complaint and a conversion of trust charge, were aired in Municipal Court Monday afternoon before Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

Roger D. Bennett, 21, Rt. 5, pleaded guilty to a charge of conversion of trust filed by Bill Hendren, of W & W leasing Co., located at Billie Wilson Chevrolet, 333 W. Court St., and was fined $250 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail.

Judge Winegardner suspended the fine and jail term for one year providing Bennett pay $234.19 in rental fees for the car.

Hendren had charged that Bennett rented a 1973 model car from his firm Nov. 15, and was to have returned it three days later, but failed to do so. The vehicle was recovered Dec. 5, when Bennett was arrested at his Old Springfield Road home.

Allen M. O'Dell, 18, of Reesville, failed to appear in court on an indecent exposure charge and forfeited $200 bond. O'Dell, arrested by police at his home Sunday, was charged in connection with a complaint filed by a Washington Junior High School girl Dec. 6. The incident took place in the 500 block of E. Paint Street, police said, after O'Dell had apparently followed the girl home in his car.

Judge Winegardner granted a 30-day extension to L.J. Dill, of Columbus owner of the burned-out Dill Grain Co., Milledgeville, for cleanup purposes around the old elevator. Dill had been ordered to have the site cleaned up by Dec. 11 or forfeit a $1,000 bond.

The extension for the cleanup operation, already in progress, was granted at Dill's request. The bond was continued.

Donald R. Clickner, 34, of 627 Harrison Ave., forfeited $50 bond when he failed to appear on an intoxication charge filed by city police. Clickner had arrested early Sunday after he created a disturbance at an E. Paint Street home.

Also forfeiting a $50 bond was Arnold R. Lewis, 24, of 1024 E. Paint St. He was charged with disorderly conduct by fighting following an altercation at Red's Tavern, U.S. 35-S. The complaint was filed by Libbie Matthews.

Deaths, Funerals

MARTIN A. COOPER — Services for Martin A. Cooper, 76, of 1152 E. Paint St., were held at 3 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner - Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Charles Williams, of the Church of Christ in Christian Union, officiating. Mrs. Cooper, a retired employee of the Anders, Stitt and Jensen greenhouses, died Friday.

Two hymns were sung by Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart. Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Joe Clark, Tim Cummings, Danny Metcalf, Carl Cooper, Phillip Janik and Hughey Cooper.

MRS. GLENN PETTIT — Services for Mrs. Virginia Lee Pettit, 44, wife of Glenn Pettit, of 731 Clinton Ave., were held at 1 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner - Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Preston Lowe officiating. Mrs. Pettit died Thursday.

Two hymns were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Streitenberger, accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur Knisley at the organ. Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Bill Maxwell, Donald Miller, Oliver Roe, Gerald Frey, Rollin Pettit and Woodrow Wilke.

he exclaimed.

But the lunar excursion, begun as a frolic, soon turned into a grim contest of man against the moon.

Cernan drilled an eight-foot bit into the moon, using an electric drill, and then tried to pull the bit out for a core-tube sample.

First he tugged by hand. No go. Then he attached a jackline tool. No go. Then Cernan threw his weight against the jack, bouncing down into the dust on his hands and knees. No go. Again and again he tried, his breath coming in bursts.

Mission Control warned him several times to slow down, saying he was building up too much heat inside his space suit. Once, he was told his heart beat was rising rapidly, and the astronaut paused.

Schmitt joined Cernan, and together they worked the cores free.

Wilmington man killed in accident

WILMINGTON — A 21-year-old Wilmington man was killed when the car in which he was riding crashed into the rear of a semi tractor on U. S. 22, 1½ miles east of Wilmington early Monday.

Pronounced dead at the scene was Larry Fox, 995 Rombach Ave. Fox was a passenger in the car driven by LeRoy J. Campbell, 26, of Wilmington, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Campbell was listed in satisfactory condition at Clinton Memorial Hospital with several fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

Campbell was traveling east on U. S. 22 when his car slammed into the rear of a disabled semi tractor parked along the roadway at 5:35 a.m.

Patrolmen reported that the driver of the truck, James T. Hall, 28, of Clarksville, had placed safety equipment around the vehicle and had left to seek the present building at an investment of approximately $60,000.

"Redman plans to continue expansion and improvement of facilities in order to provide additional employment and continued job security for our employees and the community," Marti concluded.

DALLAS — Redman Industries announces another strong gain in revenues. Sales were up 48 per cent to $25,380,000 compared with the prior November's $17,066,000.

This major gain was led by Redman Mobile Homes with sales up 67 per cent to $15 million compared to sales of $9 million for the prior November. This continued gain in penetration makes Redman solidly the number two producer of mobile homes.

Recreational vehicle sales were $1 million for the month. This compares to sales of $275,000 for November, 1971.

Lee Posey, president of Redman Industries, announced that effective Jan. 1, the recreational vehicle division will be set apart as a wholly-owned subsidiary with its own president and board of directors. He said, "I am pleased to announce the appointment of Thomas Johnson as president of Redman Recreational Vehicle Co. Johnson's previous position was president of Redman Western Corp." Posey added that Johnson will implement previously announced plans for Redman Recreational Vehicle Co., which includes the addition of four motor home plants in calendar 1973.

Redman Properties reported revenues approximately the same as the prior year, almost $6 million. Redman Building Products' revenues were up 16 per cent not including the sales reported by Clearspan and Gallatin, two recent acquisitions. With the addition of their sales, the total revenues were $3.8 million compared to $1.9 million for the previous November, a gain of 100 per cent.

Posey said, "Our backlogs going into December are the strongest in the company's history, and we feel that conditions are right for the continued growth of the recreational vehicle and mobile home industries and that Redman will fully participate in this growth."

THE BETTER HALF

was credited with preventing numerous accidents.

The State Highway Department began salting major roads and the freeway at 10:30 p.m. and continued through the night. Most main roads were clear Tuesday Morning, except for trouble areas on the Interstate 71, which continued to freeze over. So bad were conditions, two Highway Department trucks were involved in accidents, one struck by a semi truck and the other sliding into a ditch.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department had under investigation approximately six traffic accidents by 8:30 a.m.

A RASH of traffic accidents, blamed on icy streets and highways, kept city police, sheriff's departments and highway patrolmen busy Tuesday morning. Two persons were injured in a single car crash on Oakland Avenue and a tank truck was heavily damaged when it overturned on U. S. 35.

A heavy fog which began rolling into the area by mid-morning added an extra hazard to the driving situation.

Ronald J. Manuel, 22, of 413½ Eastern Ave., and his wife, Pamela, 19, were treated at Memorial Hospital after their car crashed into a tree at the Oakland Avenue bridge about 6:48 a.m. Tuesday. Both suffered minor bumps and bruises and were released after treatment.

City police said Manuel was west-bound and lost control as the car came out of the bridge. The car slid off the south side, hitting, a tree, then spun around in the roadway and came to rest on the sidewalk.

The 1969 model car was demolished.

FOUR VEHICLES, one a tank truck, were involved in a chain-reaction crash on U. S. 35, just south of Fairview Road, at 2 a.m.

The tank truck, loaded with a non-flammable gas, overturned on its side in the ditch and was heavily damaged. Inspectors were being called in to check the tank before it is moved, sheriff's deputies said.

Officers said the accident was initiated when a car driven by Patrick E. Sheridan, 40, of 425 Lewis St., ran off the right side of the icy roadway into a ditch. The pickup truck following Sheridan, driven by Paul D. Adkins, 28, of Branchland, W. Va., apparently stopped on the highway to render assistance and was struck in the rear by another pickup truck driven by Fred Robinett, 73, Rt. 5.

A semi-rig driven by Charles W. Gray, 42, Tornado, W. Va., came upon the accident and swerved to the left in an attempt to go around the mishap. He lost control of the tank truck and it slid off the left side into a ditch and overturned.

No injuries were reported in the accident. Moderate damage was listed to the two pickup trucks involved.

POLICE

TUESDAY, 5:32 a.m. — A car driven by Earl Miles, 33, of 715 Eastern Ave., went out of control on Delaware Street, west north of Eastern Avenue, and struck a parked car owned by Paul W. Anschutz, of 1433 N. North St.; damage moderate.

SHERIFF

TUESDAY, 1:30 a.m. — A tractor trailer rig driven by Richard Bandy, 34, Roanoke, Va., jackknifed into a culvert across U.S. 35 near Boyd Road, and was struck by a car driven by Robert E. Haines, 62, Rt. 6; damage moderate.

PATROL

TUESDAY, 6 a.m. — A car driven by Roger W. Blackburn, 19, Sabina, went out of control on CCC Highway-W, at Jamison Road and damaged two rods of fence on the Herman Ingram farm; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 4:30 a.m. — A State Highway Department pickup truck, driven by Robert W. Manns, 60, Rt. 4, slid off icy Ohio 41, just south of Miami Trace Road, and damaged two rods of fence owned by Loren B. Johnson, Rt. 2.

Ohio House eyes revenue sharing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House turns its attention to federal revenue sharing today as senators decide whether to breath new life into an ill-fated bill to raise the pay of legislators and county officials.

Sen. Paul Gillmor, R-12 Tiffin, a member of the Ways & Means Committee which rejected the pay raise bill Monday, said he may move to have it reconsidered to include only the pay of county officials. "We need to take care of our county people this year," Gillmor said.

Both chambers have floor sessions on tap as the legislature begins what could be the last week of the lame duck session. Up for a vote in the House is a Republican-sponsored bill that would provide for the distribution of about $69 million in federal revenue sharing funds for the calendar year 1972.

The bill faced an uncertain fate since Democrats, who take control of the House Jan. 1, have their own ideas about how the money should be distributed.

Gov. John J. Gilligan's office is preparing a bill for introduction at the new session next month, and he could veto any Republican effort to earmark the funds.

Gilligan spokesmen are predicting the GOP bill will not pass. "I don't think some of the Republicans are very hot over it," said Robert Tenenbaum, the governor's news secretary.

The Ways & Means Committee's vote on the pay raise was 3-3 with 4 joining on the 7-member committee. Needed Gillmor in voting no were Sens. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, and Anthony Novak, D-23 Cleveland. Chairman Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, favored the bill along with Sens. Harry Armstrong, R-17 Logan, and Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington. Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, was absent.

Gillmor said he opposed it because he favors granting increases for legislators on the basis of $25 a day for expenses. He offered an amendment which would have authorized such payments for days of actual attendance. The committee voted the amendment down with only Gillmor and Miss Valiquette favoring it.

Maloney also offered an amendment which would have boosted the proposed increases for legislators and adjusted those suggested for county officials to give more than proposed to officials in the higher population counties. His amendment lost, also on a 3-3 vote.

The bill was based on recommendations of the newly created Elected Official and Judicial Compensation Commission. It contained increases for senators and representatives from $12,750 to $14,000, and hikes for top legislative leaders from $16,750 to $18,500 annually.

County increases would range from about 10 to 22 per cent, with the biggest increases going to counties with the

SALT session held

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiations today had their longest meeting to date in the three-week-old new phase of their secret strategic arms limitation talks, SALT II. They conferred two hours. Conference sources said the discussions were active and serious but gave no details.

Restrictions remain on swine movement

Certain restriction on movement of swine in Ohio are still in effect, even though the federal hog cholera quarantine was lifted in the Washington C. H. area Monday.

John Gruber, county extension agent, agriculture, said early today that there is apparent confusion among swine producers concerning current market restrictions. Gruber said that the Ohio Department of Agriculture is still enforcing a statewide restriction on the movement of sows. He cited an earlier release from Dr. Harry Goldstein, chief of the division of Animal Industry, which states "Sows may move through Ohio auction markets or any swine assembly point for slaughter only."

Gruber said that the removal of the quarantine has eased restrictions on swine producers in the formerly quarantined area. Producers in that area can now move hogs to market without the prior inspection which was required during the quarantine period.

Gruber noted that the swine marketing practices now in effect do allow "swine for feeding purposes to move from an Ohio farm to another farm or from an Ohio auction market, for slaughter only."

Schedule trial date for 5 assault

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — Jan. 15 has been set as trial date for five men accused of assaulting three state liquor control agents here Saturday during an altercation at a local bar.

The five men entered innocent pleas in Kenton Municipal Court Monday. Two other men facing the same charges had their cases continued.

least population. The raises were described by the commission as being within Federal Wage Board guidelines.

Maloney wanted to increase lawmakers pay by about 17 per cent, providing a base of $15,000 with top leaders going to $19,500 a year. Also under his amendment, the top county increase would have been 20 per cent and the lowest 15 per cent.

Stock list lethargic

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up .15 at 1036.42. Declines held a moderate edge over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market was trying to gauge the impact, if any, of the South Vietnamese proposal for a cease-fire while peace negotiations continue.

In technical terms, brokers pointed out the market was still consolidating its recent sharp gains.

The Big Board index at noon was 65.03, off 0.11, and the American Stock Exchange price-change index at noon was 26.75, off .02.

Airport beacon license received

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday afternoon received a license from the Federal Communications Commission for a radio-beacon station near the Fayette County Airport and authorized payment of outstanding bills from federal revenue sharing funds received only Monday morning.

The board authorized payment of bills totaling more than $23,000, some of which had been held for lack of funds pending delivery of the county's first federal revenue sharing check.

Included in the bills authorized for payment was a transfer of an additional $6,000 to the Board of Elections for payment of additional election expenses, and funds for payment of a cruiser for the Sheriff's Department.

Requirements are that the station be located within a five-mile radius of the airport and be operated automatically 24 hours a day at a power not to exceed 25 watts.

Commission Chairman Robert Mace said the radio-beacon system will be tied into the Sheriff's Department for monitoring so that Sheriff's Department personnel will be able to determine when a malfunction occurs. The continuous Morse code signal is designed to guide aircraft to the Airport during inclement weather.

Profile reports on the Hartman Ditch, Washington - Waterloo Road at CCC Highway-E, and the George Miller Ditch, Ohio 729 at Jeffersonville, were submitted by the county engineer, but were incomplete, according to Mace. He said no dates for hearings have been set pending completion of the profiles and required reports.

Dear Abby:

Why do doctors need all that boiling water?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy and like to watch TV a lot. One night I saw a movie on TV where a baby was about to be born and the doctor asked for "lots of boiling water." This puzzled me. I ask my father what they needed boiling water for, and he said maybe they wanted to make tea or coffee.
Then I asked my mother, and she said, "The doctor probably just wanted to keep the father busy so he wouldn't be in the way." Abby, I think they didn't want to tell me the truth so they just made up those silly answers.
Will you please be honest with me and tell me why a doctor needs boiling water for the birth of a baby? This is something they don't teach you in school.

UNCERTAIN BOY
DEAR BOY: They haven't used boiling water in a birth since "The Birth of a Nation," which is a pretty old movie. But in the olden days, all surgical materials were sterilized in boiling water to kill the bacteria and prevent infection.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are making a success of our marriage, the second for both of us. My son, 14, lives with us. My husband's three boys, age 8 and 14, live with their mother, but occasionally come to visit at our house for several days.

At their house, the family lives very informally, taking their meals on trays to eat in the den while watching TV. At our house the evening meal is important as a family gathering and it is eaten at the table. When his boys are with us, they often eat quickly and leave the table before others are finished eating. With my own son, I insist that he ask permission to be excused when he leaves the table early. Then he understands that for him the meal is over, and he is not allowed to return to the table when dessert is served.

My question: Am I hopelessly old-fashioned to stress good table manners? Would I be presumptuous to teach my husband's boys the kind of manners I have taught my own son? Since they seldom eat at a table, perhaps they have not had the opportunity to learn good table manners. (I don't want to appear to be critical of their mother's ways of bringing them up.)

Do you think that while the boys are living with us they should be required to observe the rules of our household?

PUZZLED STEP-MOTHER
DEAR PUZZLED: Absolutely. And no ifs, ands, or buts.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get the message across to my mother in law when she tells me one of her "stories" that she already had told me at least 20 times?

It gets to be very annoying to listen to her go through a long, drawn-out monolog of one of her many lifetime experiences. When she launches into one of her boring stories, on occasion I have politely reminded her that she has told me before, but she goes right on until she finishes it.

I certainly keep track of what I tell people, and would not think of boring them in that manner. Your advice will be much appreciated.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: You don't say how old you are, but I assume your mother-in-law is about 25 years older, which could account for her forgetfulness. Show a little more compassion

Ohio River crest seen Wednesday

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio River is expected to crest here Wednesday morning at 52.2 feet, just above the 52-foot flood stage.

The 52.2 mark is the latest figure given by the U.S. Weather Service here, although it said the river could crest even higher if more precipitation falls.

A flash flood warning that had been in effect in several southwestern Ohio counties was canceled Sunday afternoon.

Water at flood stage here causes some damage in low-lying residential areas and forces closing of some roads.

Opinion And Comment

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

A pay-off to George Meany?

One of George McGovern's more outlandish October predictions was that Richard Nixon would come out for a national Right to Work law if the Republicans won the election. I thought the prophecy was wildly misplaced, and said so at the time. Nixon was then courting AFL-CIO President George Meany's "neutrality." With the appointment of hard hat Peter Brennan, the head of the New York State Building Construction Trades Councils, as Secretary of Labor, Nixon has definitely made a grateful gesture toward Mr. Meany. And the prospects are that the President has not finished in his campaign to make good Republicans of the more prosperous union members from here on in.

The "Philadelphia Plan" for forcing black quotas on construction unions employed on federally financed projects will hardly get more than lip-service from Secretary Brennan, who merely went through the motions of expanding black employment in New York. But George Meany can now hope to get much more out of Nixon in return for future union support.

Specifically, Meany has had his eye on farm workers for a long time. In 1970 he said: "As you know, the National Labor Relations Act does not cover agricultural workers, and we're trying to see that they are covered . . . if we can achieve that, and I'm hopeful we can within a reasonable time, this will

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

A sense of futility

ST. LOUIS. — "We are in limbo." That is the response of one of the young organizers of Washington University's student symposium to the question of where the kids stand today. Between the old politics and the collapse of the new politics on Nov. 7 the young feel they have no place to go.

They all worked hard for St. George, as they call Sen. McGovern, in the primaries and many carried on in the fall even though they were a bit disillusioned with their hero. Now seeing no place on the political map to turn to, many are simply rejecting the whole scene. Hair, sex and for a few the Jesus Movement are the only options left.

It has been a long journey from the MOBE in Washington and all the other antiwar demonstrations to this limbo. Here at Washington University the climax came, after the shooting at Kent State, with the burning of the ROTC building. When they talk about it you get a sense of the excitement and the shock of that night.

If two students could be shot down at respectable, middle class Kent State then it could happen anywhere. At Jackson State in Mississippi there were two more dead. The blazing building and the arrests and the convictions put a somber period to the tension in the packed quadrangle that preceded the march and the assault on the citadel of militarism.

IN THEIR downbeat moments the young who put together this symposium on the reasons for the collapse of the new politics admit to a sense of futility. Did all the demonstrations, the marches, the teach-ins have any real influence on the Vietnam involvement and the course of the war? The answer is a reluctant no.

Not long ago there was an attempt to organize a protest. Why, what for, it doesn't matter. About a hundred students (undergraduate enrollment 4,000) turned out for an all-night sit-in in the library. A small, brave band,

BY A CURIOUS coincidence the conservative American Farm Bureau Federation proposes to help George Meany get his way in organizing farm workers. Prior to 1971 the Farm Bureau opposed compulsory farm unionization in any form. But in 1971 the Farm Bureau, in response to what it considered the brutal organizing tactics of Cesar Chavez, made an abrupt switch. It offered to condone the compulsory unionization of farm labor in non-Right-to-Work states in return for a federal ban on secondary boycotts and strikes during harvest time.

Meeting this week in Los Angeles, the Farm Bureau will be presenting its proposed farm labor bill for the inspection of its delegates. A superficial case can be made out for giving George Meany what he wants.

Under the terms of the National Labor Relations Act, no farm employer would be forced to deal with an AFL-CIO union unless there happened to be evidence that a majority of the workers wanted it that way.

Compared to Cesar Chavez's method of dragging workers into his vineyard workers' union without benefit of a majority vote, the Meany approach is far more democratic. Moreover, Meany's possible concession on the secondary boycott and harvest-time strikes would do much to they marched the next morning.

David Halberstam's book on Vietnam that has made so many waves condemns the "Best and the Brightest" for the tragedy of the war. From McGeorge Bundy and Robert McNamara through Walt Rostow they got us into the guagmire of Vietnam. It is a conforting thesis that absolves so many others.

The other side of the coin are the young who fought against the war on the pavements, on the Capitol plaza, at the Justice Department, outside the doomed ROTC building. In their own fashion they were the brightest and if not the best then the most concerned and committed.

Their disillusion with the whole process of democracy, whether within the system in the streets, is one of the heaviest costs of the war and the long and bitter division that cuts across our lives.

THEY LISTEN respectfully to their elders who have spoken here on the causes of what was for them the debacle of Nov. 7. But you sense that they are not entirely convinced by the outward evidence. There must be some deep interior meaning at the undisclosed heart of American life.

reassure farmers that Chavez's disruption of the supermarkets in the matter of grape and lettuce sales would not be repeated.

IRONICALLY, the Farm Bureau, in its zeal to beat Cesar Chavez, is about to welcome a plan that has kept U. S. industry in turmoil since the Thirties. Once a "majority" has sanctioned the presence of a specific union in an industry, minorities have little chance of ever becoming a new majority. "Democracy" becomes a mere catchword, and the occasional dissident gets short shrift.

Where the dues check-off prevails, the individual workers cannot express his dissatisfaction with union leadership. His money can be used against him politically, and if he tries to get out of a compulsory union shop arrangement he will be fired.

In agriculture, compulsory unionism would eventually bring the hiring hall into general use. True enough, farm employers could recommend certain prospective employees to the union organizers. But if the organizers didn't like the cut of a man's jib, what chance would he have of getting or keeping a job?

If the Farm Bureau capitulates this week, Congress will surely give George Meany what he wants. Richard Nixon would hardly veto anything that Meany can get on Capitol Hill.

The contest between the old and the new politics over a chairman for the Democratic National Committee interests them not at all. It is part of a past that no longer has any meaning. This may all along have been their weakness. They were a disembodied force. In the words of that New Dealer of long ago they believed they could roll up their sleeves and make over America.

And they could do it on their own with no help from the older generation.

It is a curious irony that at this moment Harry Truman, Missouri's only President of the United States, is fighting for his life at the age of 86. Truman? You might as well say Thomas Jefferson or Rutherford B. Hayes.

Limbo is a place where both the past is erased and the future is unknown. One dictionary definition is: A place or state of oblivion to which persons or things are regarded as being relegated when cast aside, forgotten, past or out of date. It could be that the young are at alone in suffering from a sense of being relegated by recent events to the political attic.

Whether they will escape, where they will go, no once can say. Maybe it is just back to cracking the books with end-of-the-semester exams coming up.

"IT CAN'T BE THE FEDERAL REVENUE CHECK HAS ARRIVED. MAYBE IT'S JUST THE THOUGHT OF IT."

Thoughts on growth rate

The rate of population growth in the United States has been declining more or less steadily in the last couple of years. For 19 consecutive months, the birth rate has been lower than in the corresponding month a year before. This has given rise to a widespread impression that we need no longer be much concerned about the consequences of a rapid population rise over the next few decades.

The latest report on findings by government population analysts is sure to strengthen this impression. It brings word that for the first time the U. S. fertility rate has fallen below the level required to achieve zero population growth. This level is 2.1 children per family, a rate which if sustained over a sufficient period of time would stabilize the population. The fertility rate is now estimated to stand at the record low of 2.08.

One or two cautionary remarks are in order. First off, it should be noted that short-term population statistics are not dependable measures of what may happen over the long haul. Item: Where as the birth rate declined to the then record low of 2.2 children a family in the late 1930s, it had gone up to almost 3.8 in 1957 only a couple of decades later. Now it is low again, but while demographers offer some explanation for this — more young women are remaining single, women are having children later — they cannot predict with much confidence how things may stand 10 or 20 years from now.

Another point to be raised is that even if we are at the start of a genuine, long-term decline in the growth rate, this does not mean the "population problem" is solved. Even a so-called zero growth rate would not quickly stabilize the number of people in this country: at a constant 2.1 fertility rate the population would continue to increase for another 70 years, and by then about another 110 million would have been added.

The present slowdown is welcome. But anyone who supposes that the prospect of having to contend with more than half again as many people as at present does not constitute a problem is suffering an attack of naivete.

New Zealand prisons more like rest homes

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (AP) — New Zealand prisons are nothing more than rest homes, according to convicted burglar Peter Apoturu Maru.

Appearing in Wellington Magistrate's Court on seven counts of burglary, 32-year-old Maru told the bench: "These places you call prisons are no longer prisons. To me, they are only rest homes. Poepole who are sent there have better meals than in most of your hotels."

Maru said there were other luxuries which would not make a person like himself change his ways.

Stipendiary Magistrate Benjamin Scully sent Maru back to jail for 12 months for his latest offences.

A Justice Department official said: "We are pleased to have the commendation on our prisons. Usually, inmates are quick to complain about the standard of meals provided."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Paul Grimm and Marvin Merritt were chosen alternates on the Southern Ohio All-Star Football team which was scheduled to play the Northern team in Canton next Aug. 13.

The 50-member Fayette County Chorus presented George Frederic Handel's "Messiah" to an audience filling Grace Church.

The local Post Office was handling approximately 6,500 pieces of mail each day, 1,500 more than during normal, non-Christmas season periods.

Arden Bock of Jeffersonville Road was shot through the chest in a hunting accident.

Loren Yoho sold his jewelry and gift shop to the Treasure Island Jewelry Co. and announced that he would open Yoho's Supperette Market at 117 S. Fayette St.

It was announced by John Case, sewer disposal committee chairman (Chamber of Commerce), that the cost of constructing a secondary treatment plant was estimated to be $225,000.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

The First Building and Loan Company, with a capitalization of $100,000, was incorporated.

Mrs. Minnie L. Brown was elected by the public school teachers of the city to represent them at the annual meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' Association in Columbus, Dec. 26-28.

Russell Flee was elected captain of the Washington High School basketball team for the 1922-23 season.

Lloyd A. Pixley, captain of the 1922 Ohio State Football team, spoke to the assembled members of the 1922 Washington High School football team who were the guests at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club.

The men of Sugar Grove Church gave an oyster supper.

"School apples," White Pippin, York Imperial, Rome Beauty, Black Twig, Ben Davis and Starks were available at $1.25, $1.35 and $1.50 per bushel from J. E. Wilson at Thompson storage on East Street.

Open Letter

TO: City Council and City Manager Wolford

GENTLEMEN: We witnessed a fall in the downtown area the other day which we feel could have been prevented. We also understand there have been many similar falls, especially in winter. What happened was that an elderly person had trouble stepping down from a curb. Here's our suggestion for future planning when sidewalks are replaced: Do not round off curbs, score the cement when wet to give better traction and, if at all possible, think about building ramps at intersections for the elderly. Washington C. H. could score a first with the latter.

Bibleland complex set

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — A minister’s son from Granville hopes to built a Bibleland complex here “to teach as accurately as possible the history of the Judeo-Christian religion.”

Earl R. Voorhies expects his $30 million project to be completed in 1976 and include facsimiles of King Solomon’s Temple, Bethlemlen and numerous other historical places.

Voorhies says “the spiritual values radiating from such a center will help men live together” but admits he’s building the complex as “a business proposition.”

The first building, Voorhies said, will be a wax museum with displays of 20 major events from the Old and New Testaments. Phase II will recreate Biblical towns and include a drama theater to reenact the life of Jesus. And children will be able to take donkey rides.

Voorhies said he got the idea after reading about the Oberammergau Passion Play in Germany and similar plays in the Black Hills of South Dakota and Arkansas.

“Only 12 million to 15 million people live within 500 miles of Arkansas and the Black Hills,” said Voorhies. “and more people are turned away than get to see the plays.

“Here we have 135 million people.”

A Book for All Ages:
The World in 1972

Sooner or later, your son or daughter is going to come face to face with the necessity in school of finding out just what happened in 1972, or of pinning down the facts for that year.

He will be one up on his classmates if you have THE WORLD IN 1972 in your family library. (Copies of some of our previous news annuals also are still available.)

What better, cheaper way is there than this 316-page volume—with its hundreds of news photos in color and black and white, its 300,000-word text, its up to date color map section, its chronology and condensed almanac—to make the study of current history rewarding?

Ex-West Point gridded heads NAM

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — You may remember the new president of the National Association of Manufacturers as the smooth quarterback who handed off the ball to Blanchard and Davis, the touchdown twins of the great Army teams of the mid-1940s.

E. Douglas Kenna, much honored himself as a football and basketball player and coach, now is calling signals for an organization that generally doesn’t hear the applause of the multitude or the praise of the critics.

Actress Jane Fonda
to wed Tom Hayden

ROEROS, Norway (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda says she plans to marry antiwar demonstrator Tom Hayden following her divorce from movie director Roger Vadim.

Miss Fonda, 35, and Hayden, 32, will marry in the United States next year, a spokesman for Miss Fonda said.

The NAM is made up of 12,275 members, all top officers of their organizations, all men and women of very positive opinions that they seldom fail to articulate. “They wouldn’t be there if they didn’t,” said Kenna.

One job facing Kenna is to attract more members to NAM. Like other associations in recent years, it has shrunk in size. In 1962, its rolls numbered 16,327, but recession and business consolidations have taken a toll.

Although he accepted the job on very little notice, Kenna expects he will be able to work easily with the association’s 172-man board, even though that board often is not in total agreement.

The common goal that unites them despite differences on matters such as import controls is, said Kenna, that “they are all for a good and healthy business environment.”

Does such an environment sometimes conflict with other national goals, he was asked? “Yes,” Kenna replied after reflecting, “there will be areas of conflict. There must be tradeoffs.”

He spoke clearly, very calmly, very certainly, with a slight Mississippi accent, drawing slowly on a fine, slim cigar. He is 48, still athletic looking and inclined to dress less conservatively than some NAM members.

“We need a policy in which you wind up with a compromise,” he said. “We must take the rational course. That is the policy we seek.”

That philosophy was restated many times by Kenna as he prepared to take over from W. P. Gullander, who held the job of permanent president for 10 years, at the recent annual meeting.

It is not unusual as it might appear for a West Pointer to follow a business career after fulfilling his military obligations. At least one study shows that service-academy personnel, on a per graduate basis, occupy more top corporate jobs than the product of any top business school.

Couple finds joyous Yule in leaving hospital

By HOPE STRONG
Women's Editor, Lima News
LIMA, Ohio (AP) — This is the story of an accident—one of the 16.5 million auto crashes that each year strew U.S. highways with metal, money and man.
The accident happened to Manuel and Winona Pike, both 71, of North Lake, Mich. They left Lima Memorial Hospital last week after nearly two months of nursing and suffering.
The Pikes headed for their Youngstown, Ariz., winter home minus their 14-foot travel trailer, and many possessions—but with each other.
"It's our best Christmas present," said Mrs. Pike.
She managed a warm smile as she boarded a plane, despite a four-poster cervical brace shrouding her head, a painful reminder of a broken neck.

Mrs. Pike will have to wear the brace a minimum of four months. There is no guarantee that at her age her neck ever will be stable.
Her husband of 50 years has recovered from a concussion and two sprained ankles. "They're still swollen and Manuel has to keep off his feet as much as possible," Mrs. Pike said.
"We'll make it," she said. "Nothing is impossible. After all, I had four children in five years and I replanted a whole hedge once, didn't like where Manuel had put it."
So, this was an accident with a happy ending. Thousands of other accidents don't come out with a Hollywood ending.

Pike was released from the hospital Oct. 19, two days after the accident about four miles south of Lima on Interstate 75.
Every day during his wife's hospitalization, Pike arrived at Memorial at 6:30 a.m. to feed her, staying on until 10:30 p.m. Until last week she was under a 15-pound neck traction after the original five days of intensive care.
"It's so wonderful to see people's faces again. All I've had to look at has been the ceiling," Mrs. Pike explained. "I'm also learning how to walk again."
As fate sometimes decrees, the Pikes never had traveled the Ohio interstate in the nine years of wintering in Arizona. "We stopped to visit my 77-year-old sister in Toledo and that's how we happened on 75," Mrs. Pike said.
Her husband recalled, "It was a beautiful, sunny day. A lady driver passed us and turned in too quick, sideswiping our fender. They pulled over to the shoulder of the highway and we did the same, completely off the road. In getting out of the car Winona slammed the door on her left thumb and it started bleeding."

When Pike found the auto damage was but a fender scratch he told the lady and man with her to go on.
"They didn't," he said, "but I had to take care of my wife's finger. We got into the trailer and a second later I heard this terrific explosion," Pike said.
"No, Manuel," his wife interrupted, "it was a terrific crash. That's all we remembered for a couple of minutes. When I awakened, everything in the trailer was on top of us. Manuel was yelling to come over and see what was wrong with his head. I couldn't. I was holding my neck."

She continued, "There was such a nice young man—we never learned his name—who cautioned me, 'Don't move.' I was so cold and he found a down comforter and covered me."
Her husband added, "And he put me in the seat of my car but first laid a blanket down so the blood wouldn't run on the upholstery."

Mrs. Pike is hopeful insurance will pay damages and hospital costs. "I guess the suffering we should forget," she said.

Pike found a room just two doors from the hospital.
One of her daughters in Arizona, flew here twice while sons in Michigan and other relatives have made visits. "My other daughter in Arizona has sent me a red carnation each day," Winona said.
"If you look at it one way," Pike philosophized, "everyone should have a stay in the hospital like I've had to watch the amazing way the nurses, doctors and staff work and how they are able to keep so many really sick people alive."

His wife said, "I'm impressed with the kindness and service given me. There has been one practical nurse, Rose Marie Patton, for instance, who even taught my husband how to bathe me, and it's a job with my brace."

Miss Patton's final gift was, as every woman knows, the greatest. She washed and set Mrs. Pike's hair for the first time in eight weeks.

Peter Falk, Liza Minelli win 'Golden Apples'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Peter Falk and actress Liza Minelli have been named "stars of the year" by the Hollywood Women's Press Club and received the club's "Golden Apples."

Falk received the award for "continuing to demonstrate the highest standards of thespian's art." Miss Minelli was given the Golden Apple for being an "electrifying ... talented and newsworthy person." The awards were announced Sunday.

Play staff worked diligently

By DEIDRE LANGE
The director and students involved in the fall play at Miami Trace High School, "The Legend of Arthur Banana Plant," worked very diligently at their various jobs. Everyone who came to the play saw the result of their work. The cast received their recognition on stage, but without the many people working behind the scenes, this production would not have been possible.

The staff consisted of Ms. Doris Oursler, director; Roxy Clay, student director; Mary Ford, house manager; and Kim Fleming, ticket chairman.

The crew was composed of six committees, as follows: stage crew — Mick Dewine (stage manager), Dan Lowe, Steve Tarbuton, Dan Coe, and Steve Hedges (sound), Properties — Connie Ward and Lynn Rapp (co-chairmen) Brenda Vincent, Jerry Hosler, Laurie Hellyer, Mike Stegall, and Ron Rumer.

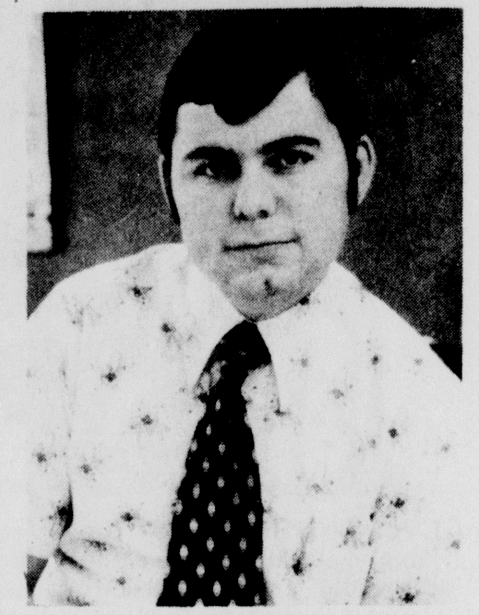

Make-up — Debbie Duff and Cora Bryan (co-chairmen), Melody Grieves, Belinda Bonner, Toni McDonald, Anita McFadden, Kim McCoy, and Jean Pettit. Costumes — Anita Hill and Linda West. Publicity — Dee Dee Lange (chairman), Mary Ford, Kim Fleming, Sandi Kellenberger, Robin Cunningham, and Thom Merriman. Program — Thom Merriman and Linda Stoops.

Bloomington native new special education teacher

By DAWN SCHLICHTER
Mr. Paul Grim is the new special education teacher at Miami Trace. He also advises the A.V. Club. Mr. Grim and his wife Lorna Jo, are currently building a home on Rt. 1, New Holland. Mr. Grim, who is originally from Bloomington, attended the University of Nebraska at Omaha. He received his bachelor's degree at Wright State University, and is completing work on his master's degree at Xavier University. He is also working on a second master's. In college he was a member of the Rho Epsilon Real Estate Fraternity and majored in business.

When asked his opinion of Miami Trace, Mr. Grim said, "It is a very good school; the faculty and students are very cooperative."

FTA projects outlined

By BARBARA BEAL
The Miami Trace Future Teachers of America Club offers students who are interested in a teaching career the opportunity to experience teaching and help them discover areas in which they might prefer to teach.

The FTA officers include Debbie Duff, president; Jill Fetters, vice-president; Marianne Arnold, secretary; and Lynn Rapp, treasurer. Mrs. Theresa Craig, Mr. Dennis Anderson, and Mrs. Ann Wilson are the advisors of this club, which has 30 members.

In January, the group plans to sell tickets to a movie at the Fayette Cinema in order to raise money for scholarships to be awarded to deserving seniors.

Some of the students experience teaching by tutoring. Anne Rees helps at Eber School with spelling and other subjects. Mick Dewine aids Mrs. Lila Engle in science class, and Debbie Duff tutors students in general math. Many of the upperclassmen will have the opportunity to teach a half day in an elementary school or one period in a high school class this year.

These are some of the FTA projects for this school year.

Curacao, Aruba, and Bonaire in the Caribbean have inadequate rainfall that quickly drains away from the island porous soil, the National Geographic Society says. The islands must distill their fresh water from the sea.

Namath shines in Jets' loss

OAKLAND (AP) — Even in defeat, New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath has a knack for upstaging other football players.

"Joe was on target all night," Jets' Coach Weeb Ewbank said Monday night after Namath passed for 403 yards in a 24-16 loss to the Oakland Raiders that killed the Jets' hopes of making the National Football League playoffs.

"He has these kind of games," admitted Raiders Coach John Madden, "but I feel our guy was pretty good too."

Oakland quarterback Daryle

Lamonica, throwing a lot less than Namath, passed for 202 yards and two touchdowns in the nationally televised game.

Raiders fullback Marv Hubbard and Jets receiver Don Maynard were two other players whose feats were overshadowed by Namath's passing show.

Hubbard gained 118 yards to become the ninth NFL rusher to hit the 1,000-yard mark this season. The 35-year-old Maynard caught seven Namath passes for 131 yards and reached an all-time NFL high of 632 career receptions.

The loss left the Jets at 7-6 and eliminated their chance of winning the American Conference's wild card playoff berth. The Raiders, as champions of the AFC West, are 9-3-1 and heading toward a playoff opener on the road against Pittsburgh, or possibly Cleveland, on Dec. 23.

The Raiders kept the Jets out of the end zone after Namath hit tight end Rich Caster on a touchdown pass play covering 49 yards in the first quarter. That score put the Jets ahead 7-3.

Two interceptions near the goal line helped the Raiders.

Lamonica put the ball into the end zone on a perfect 39-yard scoring toss to Fred Biletnikoff as the Raiders took a 10-7 lead in the second quarter, and a pass to Ray Chester in the fourth quarter produced a 68-yard touchdown play and the final 24-16 margin.

Namath left the game briefly after suffering a slight ankle injury. He waved a hand in appreciation as he limped off the field to the loud cheers of Oakland fans.

The touchdown pass to Chester was the biggest Oakland offensive blow of the night. It came right after Bobby Howfield's third field goal had cut Oakland's lead to 17-16.

Lamonica went to Chester, who was all alone behind the New York secondary, after faking a handoff to running back Charlie Smith on a third down and half-yard situation.

Bobby Tolan wins 1972 Hutch award

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — One of sport's most remarkable comebacks has earned the 1972 Hutch Award for Cincinnati Reds outfielder Bobby Tolan.

The 27-year-old speedster overcame two torn Achilles tendon operations in 1971 to hit .283 and steal 42 bases for the National League pennant winners this season.

The award is named in honor of Fred Hutchinson, former major league pitcher and manager who died of cancer in November 1964. It goes to a player annually who best exemplifies Hutchinson's fighting spirit.

An organization of major league broadcasters and sports writers makes the selection. Dayton, Ohio, Journal Herald Sports Editor Ritter Collett, secretary-treasurer of the sponsoring group, said Tolan was a runaway winner.

Next in line in the 1972 voting, in order, were Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians, Ron Santo of the Cubs and Carlos May of the Chicago White Sox.

MT's Cobb inks grid pact

Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace's star senior tackle, has signed a full four-year grant-in-aid to attend Memphis State University, Memphis, Tenn., where he will play football.

Cobb, in agreeing to the full scholarship following an outstanding high school career, becomes only the third player in Miami Trace High School's 12-year history to attend a major university on a full football scholarship.

David Craig, a 1962 graduate of Miami Trace, received a full scholarship and later played football with Northwestern University in the Big Ten Conference, and Ed Summers, a 1968 Miami Trace product, attended Miami of Ohio University of the Mid-American Conference on a full grant.

COBB, a 6-foot-3, 205-pound strong-boy, will become a member of the Memphis State University team next autumn. Memphis state, now a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, will join the prestigious Southeastern Conference in the future.

Cobb, who was named honorary captain of the All-South Central Ohio League football team after leading head coach Fred Bernier's Miami Trace Panthers to a fine 7-3 season, won a first team berth on The Associated Press' 1972 All-Southeastern Ohio District all-star team and later landed an honorable mention spot on the AP's Class AAA All-Ohio squad.

The agile lineman, who has been described by members of the Panther coaching staff as "The best defensive player in Miami Trace's history," also is an alternate candidate for the annual Ohio High School North-South all-star football game which will be played at Canton in August.

North Carolina holds early lead to defeat Kentucky

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina found the key for defeating Kentucky—build up a comfortable early lead, stall and then hope.

The strategy worked as the Tar Heels raced to a 46-26 halftime edge and then held on for a 78-70 college basketball victory Monday night.

"You aren't going to add to a 20-point halftime lead against a great team like Kentucky," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith.

"We are very happy to have gotten that win."

Kentucky's Ronnie Lyons, who didn't start due to a kidney infection and a case of anemia, scored 15 points in the second half and led a tenacious comeback effort that trimmed North Carolina's lead to 71-65 with four minutes left. Bobby Jones of the Tar Heels then tossed in two straight baskets to preserve the victory.

North Carolina, ranked No. 11 nationally, was led by George Karl's 22 points while Jones added 15. Kevin Grevey paced unranked Kentucky, which last week was tabbed eighth, with 19 points.

Jimmy Baker tossed in 40 points as Nevada-Las Vegas erased a halftime deficit and upset 10th-ranked Oral Roberts 86-80. Bob Florence added 22 points for Las Vegas and David Vaughn led Oral Roberts with 18.

No. 7 Long Beach State put six players in double figures and ripped Colorado 93-69. Roscoe Pondexter led the winners with 20 points followed by Glen McDonald with 17 and Olympic star Ed Ratleff with 16. Dave Logan led Colorado with 19.

Junior Lee Harris pumped in a career-high 30 points as Nebraska defeated Texas Christian 72-58. Harris, whose 13 field goals were one short of a Nebraska record, led the Huskers to a 38-24 halftime lead.

Dan Murphy sank two free throws with three seconds remaining and lifted Cincinnati to a 76-74 triumph over Arizona State.

Freshman Leon Douglas made his varsity debut by scoring 18 points and snaring 10 rebounds in guiding Alabama to an 89-73 victory over Georgia Tech. Wendell Hudson also scored 18 for Alabama.

Unbeaten Drake, led by Dennis Bell's 28 points, posted an 83-70 victory over Creighton while George Washington beat Texas A&M 79-72.

Southern Illinois whipped Weber State 82-70, Baylor edged Oklahoma State 63-60, Rutgers defeated Lehigh 86-73 and the Australian national team downed Oakland 78-71.

Cincy edges Arizona State for 76-74 basketball win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Junior guard Dan Murphy scored just six points, but it was enough to give Cincinnati a 76-74 college basketball victory over a hot-shooting Arizona State in Cincinnati Monday night.

Murphy sank two clutch free throws with three seconds to go to provide the Cincinnati victory margin. The play came after Greg Jurcisin stole an Arizona State pass with six seconds remaining and passed up court to Murphy who was fouled by Mike Contreras.

In other Ohio College basketball action, Xavier traveled to Lawrence, Kan., only to be chopped down by Kansas 61-54.

Xavier was 10 points behind with less than six minutes remaining, but whittled the Kansas lead to 55-50 with 2:57 left. Two clutch baskets by Rick Suttle, who finished with a game high 26 points, gave the Jayhawks the margin they needed, however.

The victory gave Kansas a 2-3 record, while Xavier dropped to 1-3.

In addition to Murphy's two free throws that provided Cincinnati's winning margin, he also scored a 20-foot jump shot with 49 seconds remaining to tie the game at 73-73.

Otterbein broke a 52-52 tie midway in the second half of its home contest and went on to take a close 75-73 victory from David Lipscomb College of Tennessee.

Freshman guard David Bromley led Otterbein, now 4-2, with 17 points but Lipscomb's 6-7 junior center, Calvin Bailey, was the game's best producer with 25 points.

In other action Denison came on strong in the second half to defeat Thiel, Pa., 78-69, while Mt. Union took an easy 69-55 victory from Grove City.

The Washington C. H. VFW Post 3762 has widened its lead in the Friday Night Ladies League heading into this week's action at Bowland Lanes.

The VFW bowlers grabbed two games from Shupert's Implement to take a 4 1/2 point lead over the Health Spa in the league standings.

Carol Horney fired a 522 series and Louise Landrum rolled a 504 to pace the VFW Post. Dora Williams topped the Shupert Implement bowlers with a 451 and Mary Bowermaster chipped in with a 439.

SNOW MOTOR Sales, the third place team, took three games from the Health Spa. Ann Robinson's 482 was tops for Snow Motors and Cathy Terrell had a 461. The Health Spa was led by Mary Varney's 468 and Ruby Stillings had a 434.

Pete's Dry Cleaners captured a pair of games from Moorman Manufacturing as Penny Richards rolled a fine 493 and Marie Shibley turned in a 488. Sandy Self's 454 was tops for Moorman and Jane Sexton had a 452.

Red Dot Trophies won two games over the Women of the Moose behind a 466 performance from Dorie Myers and a 450 effort from Jean Taylor. Dorothy Van Dyne's 510 topped the Women of the Moose bowlers and Jo Ann Estle had a 499.

UCLA unanimous No. 1 pick

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

—American Citizens Face Income Tax.

—Sun Rises In East.

—UCLA Leads Associated Press College Basketball Poll.

Those headlines carry almost equal surprise value as the incredible, unbeaten, untouchable Bruins again are unanimously No. 1 today among major undergraduate roundballers.

Florida State and Maryland remained UCLA's distant 2-3 challengers while Marquette jumped one notch to fourth, exchanging places with Big Ten powerhouse Minnesota.

North Carolina State and Long Beach State remained sixth and seventh, respectively. Southwestern Louisiana rose from 10th to eighth, Pennsylvania stayed ninth and Oral Roberts moved up two places to No. 10.

UCLA was idle last week and Coach John Wooden's West Coast wonders have a 3-0 record along with Florida State, Maryland, Marquette and Minnesota.

Florida State whipped Eastern Kentucky 87-70 and Biscayne 97-62 in action last week. Maryland beat Canisius 107-80 in its only game.

Marquette had an impressive week, crunching 14th-ranked Tennessee 56-30 and edging No. 11 Memphis State 72-69. Minnesota dropped one place despite slamming Wisconsin-Milwaukee 79-60.

North Carolina State continued to be the nation's hottest scoring club, slaughtering Georgia Southern 144-100 and South Florida 125-88.

Long Beach State belted Portland 102-66 and Puget Sound 102-70.

Kentucky, eighth ranked last week, took a double defeat dose in a 79-66 battle with Iowa and a 64-58 game against Indiana and the Wildcats dropped out of sight.

Southwestern Louisiana, 4-0, scored its most recent triumphs over Pan American 111-70, St. Joseph's, Pa., 84-74 and Marshall 98-84.

Ninth-ranked Penn beat The Citadel 57-34 and Navy 58-39.

Oral Roberts, leaping into the top 10, slammed Wisconsin 90-76, and Idaho State 95-82 before nipping Murray State 79-78.

EYES ON THE BALL — Big Kareem Abdul-Jabbar appears to have the jump on Jim McDaniels, of the Seattle SuperSonics, in a National Basketball Association game with the Milwaukee Bucks at Seattle. Jabbar was the top scorer in the game with 38 points, but the Sonics won, 95-91.

Bengals' loss to Cleveland like rerun to Paul Brown

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— For Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown, his team's 27-24 loss to Cleveland Saturday bore all too much of a resemblance to a defeat at the hands of the Browns here last year.

"It looked like a rerun of last year with fumbles, running on punt formation, things like that," Brown said Monday after watching films of the game. "It was the same people doing the same things."

"We moved the ball, we played well defensively, and it's a shame when so many do so well that just a few make those devastating mistakes."

The Bengals dropped a 31-27 decision to the Browns last year. After having led much of the way, the Bengals blew the game in the final period.

Brown said that "the crux of the game was that we fumbled the ball five times and lost it twice, both times to set them up for easy touchdowns."

Bengals miscues paved the way for four of Cleveland's five scores.

Royce Berry, defensive captain for the Bengals, said he thinks the Browns are "great opportunists." While insisting the Browns were "lucky," he pointed out that good teams have a habit of getting breaks.

Berry had a great deal of praise for Cleveland quarterback Mike Phipps who passed for touchdowns to Frank Pitts and Fair Hooker. Both touchdowns came as the Bengals put an exceptionally heavy rush on the young passer.

"I'd say it was impossible for him to get those passes off, much less complete them," Berry said.

Berry recalled that tackle Ron Carpenter slammed into Phipps just as he released the ball to Pitts.

Pitts caught the ball on the 30-yard line, scrambled out of a crowd of Bengals, and completed the 50-yard scoring play.

"There's no way he could've gotten the ball away and there's no way he could've been accurate," Berry said, despite the outcome.

quarterbacks and receivers, said in reliving the game, "I'm crushed. I don't think I've ever been as sick in my life."

But when asked about how the Bengals will feel playing their last game against Houston since they—Bengals—have been eliminated from a playoff spot, Walsh said, "We want a winning season. We've put a lot of effort into this, and we deserve a winning season. If we have one, we'll feel like we've made progress."

The Bengals stand 7-6.

WCH cage boosters to meet Wednesday

The Washington C. H. Blue Lion basketball boosters club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the WSHS cafeteria, according to Dick Witherspoon, president of the backing organization.

Witherspoon said films of the Washington C. H. — Wilmington game will be viewed and a fund raising project will be discussed.

Remarks for authors

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks an author gets tired of hearing:
"Why don't you write a cook book? Everyone else has."
"I'll tell you why I think you should use a nom de plume — because I don't think anyone could make Willoughby Wilberforce Willoughby a household name."
"You didn't put enough sex in it."
"You put too much sex in it."
"I hear they are going to give a cocktail party when your new novel comes out — but they're going to hold it in a telephone booth."
"I must say I haven't read a word you've written. But I have read all the reviews of your books, and some of them didn't sound half bad."
"What do you do besides write books?"
"Why don't you write a book on ecology? Ecology's big right now."
"I wish my wife were here to meet you. She's the one in the family who's gaga over literary lions."
"Willoughby, this one really would have knocked them dead 50 years ago when the Saturday Evening Post was going strong. What do you plan to do with it now — bury it?"
"I told you before you started the book I didn't like the idea in the first place. Now that you've written the book, I don't like the idea in the second place."
"We'll be glad to send you your royalties, Willoughby, as soon as they amount to more than the postage it would take to mail the letter."
"Why don't you write a novel about astrology, Willoughby? Nobody can write a book on astrology that won't make a profit."
"Why don't you spend your winters on the French Riviera like most successful writers do?"
"If that guy is a literary lion, then I must have forgotten what a mouse looks like."
"He went to the book store for an autographing session, and all the people who had bought his book showed up and demanded their money back."
"Why don't you write a book on how to be a success, Willoughby? The market should be ripe for a good fairy tale—that is, if it's funny enough."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP TELEVISION WRITER

NEW YORK (AP) — One thing was accomplished by man's sixth landing on the moon: It gave the nation a brief respite, 30 minutes at most, from daytime quiz shows and soap operas on network television.

But cowboys and comedy held a firm grip on the CBS television network during prime time Monday night as Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt were out taking their first stroll on the moon.

CBS hadn't planned to interrupt shows scheduled for prime evening time. ABC and NBC had, and they gave viewers the first look at the clear, remarkably sharp color television pictures from the moon. But you had to look all the time, lest you miss them.

ABC made the initial showing at 8:20 p.m. EST. It broke into its regularly scheduled "Rookies" program for a one minute live picture of the astronauts and the American flag they put on the moon.

NBC followed suit at 9:03 p.m., interrupting the start of its Monday night movie with a videotape replay of essentially the same scene shown earlier on ABC.

CBS finally covered the walk live and with tape replays in a special report which, like NBC's, began at 11:30 p.m. EST. ABC's final report came at the end of its regular Monday pro football game.

Earlier in the day, all three networks interrupted regular daytime shows to cover the successful 2:55 p.m. EST lunar landing of the astronauts.

The networks then used simulated depictions of the landing and the interior of the spacecraft, Challenger. The nation's space agency hadn't planned live television transmissions from the ship during its descent.

Both NBC and ABC went on the air at 7:30 p.m. EST with equally good 30-minute reports on the landing. They had hoped at that time to show live television pictures from the moon.

Delays in setting up Challenger's camera forced the two networks to fill time with other material, then interrupt regular programs with a total of three brief reports.

But the fill material wasn't dull. NBC's half hour included good studies by correspondent Roy Neal of four Apollo astronauts who quit the space race after returning from the moon.

ABC closed its excellent prime-time report of 30 minutes with a sardonic, stop-action summary of past Apollo moon missions.

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: Surviving a fierce storm on the ice sea, Onnik and Keotuk, his faithful dog, have finally reached Santa Land, where they hope to enlist Santa's help in getting the Ice King to end the terrible continuous winter.

CHAPTER FIVE ONNIK IN SANTA LAND

Onnik hurried over the hill and into the valley where he had seen smoke trailing into the sky.

Sure enough the smoke was coming from a little red chimney on top of a little red house.

"It's Santa's house! I know it is!" exclaimed Onnik joyfully and, with Keotuk at his heels, he rushed up to the porch.

Tap, tap! He knocked eagerly at the door.

There was no answer.

Bang, bang! he pounded.

Still no answer.

Onnik looked around. Now he saw another house nearly buried under the ice and snow. It was a long low building. Although it had a chimney, there was no smoke coming from it.

Further away he saw a large red barn but still no sign of any living creature.

Keotuk sniffed at the door of the little red house. He whimpered. Puzzled, Onnik put his hand on the knob and opened the door.

"Hello!" he called. "May I come in?"

There was no answer. Holding his breath, Onnik tiptoed in. He found himself in a room with four square walls not at all like the round snow walls he was used to at home.

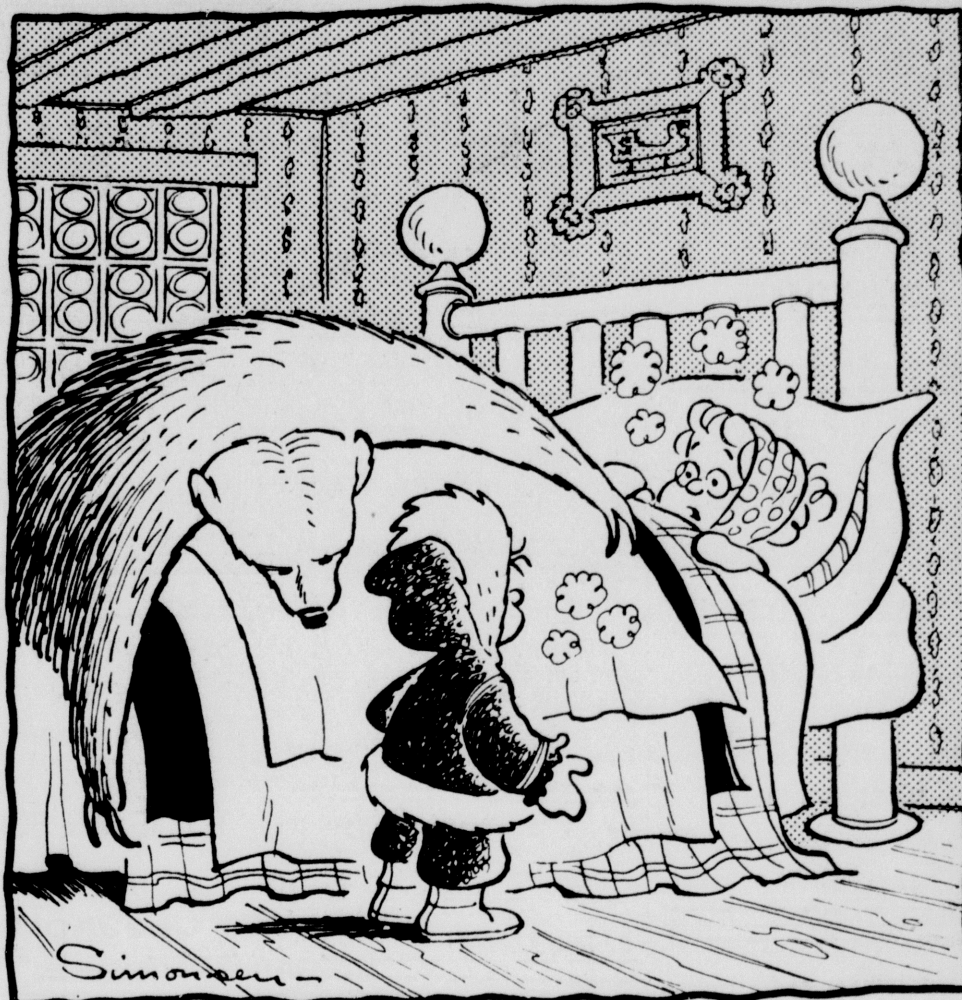

There was a little fire burning in the fireplace. Two large empty chairs sat before the fire. There was a desk in the corner with papers and letters strewn over its top.

"Oh, my!" breathed Onnik gazing around admiringly.

In all his life he had never been in any house except an igloo or tent. He had never seen a fireplace or a chair or a desk! He felt that he had walked into a palace such as he had heard kings lived in in faraway places.

He was about to lower himself into one of the chairs when suddenly he heard a groan. He leaped up. The groan came again. It was from over his head! Astonished, he realized there was another room on top of the one he was in. He found some stairs and, trembling, he tiptoed up to the second floor.

He found himself in a bedroom and in the bedroom was a bed and in the bed there was someone. At least Onnik thought there was someone in the bed but it was hard to be sure because there were so many covers on it.

"Land sakes!" cried Mrs. Santa Claus. "Who are you?"

There were quilts and comforters and blankets and even an enormous polar bear rug on top of whoever was in the bed.

Onnik cleared his throat. "I beg your pardon," he said.

The great pile of covers heaved upward and the astonished face of Mrs. Santa Claus appeared.

"Land sakes!" she cried. "Who are you?"

"I am an Eskimo boy," said Onnik nervously. "I have come from across the sea to ask Santa to save me and my people from the Ice King's anger. You see, it is summer but still summer has not come."

"Oh, I know! Don't tell me!" said Mrs. Claus and she threw herself back into the covers with another groan.

"We too have been waiting all these months for summer which has not come. And now I have terrible rheumatism which I should only have in winter months.

"And the snow is so high and the ice so thick we cannot get wood for the fires so the fairies have no fire in the workshops and they are too cold to work. We ourselves are using the dining room chairs for firewood but even those won't last much longer."

"And the ice is so thick the reindeer have not been able to dig moss to eat and they are starving."

"Oh, don't tell me about the Ice King's anger. He's gone plumb off his head, I say, and —"

"Where is Santa Claus?" interrupted Onnik uneasily.

"In the barn, I expect, nursing the reindeer. Santa says unless something happens soon there's just not going to be any Christmas any more."

Onnik slipped from the room. He ran down the stairs and out of the house.

"Oh, Keotuk," he exclaimed to his dog waiting at the door. "It's much worse than I knew! Why, even Santa doesn't know what to do!"

Neglected VD catastrophic

Would you explain what is meant by the different stages of syphilis? Does the germ that causes this affect any particular part of the body?

Mr. Y.N., N.M.

Dear Mr. N.:

Syphilis is an infectious venereal disease caused by a germ, a spirochete known as the Treponema Pallidum.

The course of this severe and complicated disease is usually divided into three stages. The first is when a chancre or ulceration appears on the skin of the genitals or on the mucous membrane lining of the mouth, lips and genitals.

Unfortunately, many of these chancres are painless and therefore are frequently overlooked and neglected. Healing may take place in a few days without any treatment, leaving little or no scar. Yet syphilis remains.

The second stage may suddenly erupt from one to three months after the disease is contracted. Now there may be a variety of symptoms which may resemble other illnesses and may not even, at first, be considered as syphilis.

Sore throats, a skin rash, low-grade fever, or general achiness may be the apparently simple symptoms that later are found to be syphilis.

The third stage of untreated syphilis may occur virtually at any time in life and produce the most bizarre and uncharacteristic symptoms. No organ in the body is exempt from the catastrophic effects of untreated and neglected syphilis. The brain, the spinal cord, the liver, the heart, the eyes, the ears, the blood vessels, the kidneys and every large and small organ can be damaged.

Children born of syphilitic parents can carry the sad stigmata of their parents' carelessness in avoiding treatment. They may be born with a variety of congenital handicaps.

Prenatal testing has largely been responsible for wiping out inherited syphilis. Routine hospital admissions insure that all adults will be tested even in the absence of any history of syphilis. The world-wide growing epidemic of syphilis will increase in geometric ratio unless intensive education will lead to prevention and earliest possible treatment.

Sir William Osler, then professor of medicine at The Johns Hopkins Hospital, once said that to know the vagaries of syphilis is to know all there is to be known about medicine. Many useful lives are destroyed by those who because of shame or stigma, refuse to admit the possibility of syphilis and the need for treatment.

Can a basketball injury cause pain in the chest? It hurts when I breathe deeply.

Mr. B.J., Nev.

Dear Mr. J.:

The ribs and the muscles in between them can be injured and cause the symptoms you describe. X-rays will rule out the possibility of a rib injury or fracture. In the rest of your letter you state that you did not tell this to your coach, afraid you would be benched. This is bad judgment. All injuries must be reported.

Opening lead — king of spades.

Here is another example of how important it is to form an over-all plan. Assume you're in six hearts and West leads the king of spades. How would you proceed?

Actually, the issue is decided by your first play from dummy. If you win the king of spades with the ace you are sure to finish down one, eventually losing a diamond and a club against proper defense.

But if you ruff the king of spades, preserving the ace for later use, nothing can stop you from making the slam — assuming you adopt the best procedure thereafter.

Let's see what happens if you ruff the spade lead and cash the ace of trumps, both opponents following suit. You then play a low diamond, forcing West to choose between going up with the ace or allowing you to win the trick in dummy with the jack.

If he goes up with the ace, that is the only trick you lose, for you can later dispose of the J-10-7 of clubs on dummy's ace of spades and Q-J of diamonds.

And if, at trick three, West permits

Remember HERE'S HOW? That was the Kodak Photo information Book that started it all. So Kodak followed it with MORE HERE'S HOW. Now, they're up to THE EIGHTH HERE'S HOW. We just got in our first shipment of this one and I would suggest that you get in soon if you want one as they're going fast.

The more we see of the Christmas shopping, the more we wonder. The quality is poor on so much of the merchandise in the photographic field; other fields too. Service on this stuff is going to be an important factor. This is a fact that must be kept in mind. Note the warranty period. Find out what your responsibility is. We have many products brought in to our shop which have gone bad during the warranty period, but when they were taken back to the place of purchase nothing was done. We try to do what we can for these people but many times that isn't as much as we would like to do.

Have you thought about a new slide projector for the family for this Christmas to replace that old one? Those new ones are something else. Slide projection is fun with the new Honeywell projector, and the Kodak Carousel Custom outfit has been dressed up into something of beauty. This just might be the answer for a Merry Christmas at home this year. Think about it.

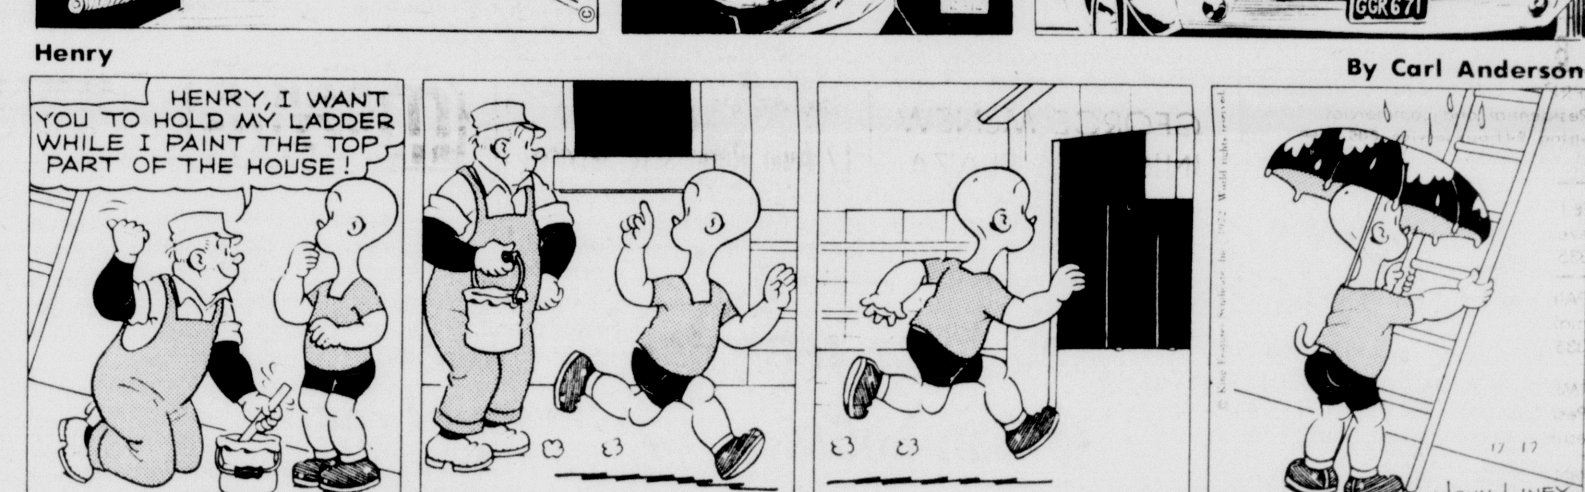

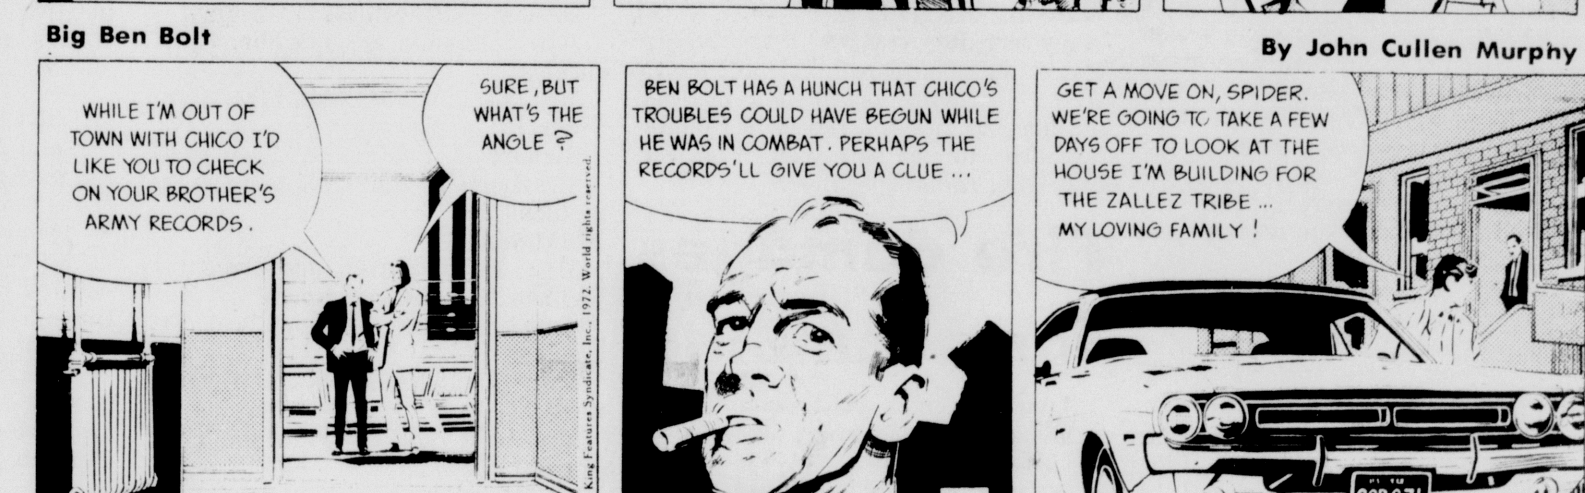

The Honeywell Spotmatic II? We have them in Black or Chrome. One of these would make this an unforgettable year for that shutterbug in the family.

'Industry Search' interviews slated

The second phase in a "selective search for industry" program for Fayette County will get under way Friday when a team from the State Department of Economic and Community Development will begin interviewing selected leaders and businessmen in the community.

The Fayette County Community Improvement Corp. (CIC), the local sponsoring organization, enrolled in the new state program which is designed to selectively search for types of industry compatible to the area. The program, through the use of computerization, is described as a "rifle approach" rather than a "shotgun approach."

The first phase of the program was the completion of a survey among selected community leaders to determine community liabilities, assets and attitudes. The second phase, which will be conducted Friday and Monday, includes the interviewing of approximately eight selected leaders to obtain a more in-depth analysis of the community.

Hay stolen from barn; loss $275

Two thefts and a trash dumping complaint were among incidents investigated by police and sheriff's departments Monday.

Ronald Campbell, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, reported the theft of approximately 300 bales of hay from his barn. Officers said the thief apparently had backed a truck up to the barn, loaded it with hay and drove away. The theft occurred Nov. 26. Loss was set at $275.

A cassette tape player was stolen from a truck parked on the Union 76 lot, U.S. 35 and I-71, early Monday. Glen R. Pyles, Kenova, W. Va., told sheriff's deputies the player was lying on the passenger seat in the cab of his semi-truck when it was removed from the unlocked truck. Loss was estimated at $60.

Two dead hogs were dumped in the ditch along Compton Road near Carrs-Mills-Jamestown Road sometime over the weekend. Jefferson Township trustees removed the dead animals.

Vic Luneborg, of the Community Park Association, reported that someone cut down several large trees on land in Christman Memorial Park, Elm St., during the past several days. Luneborg told police that brush had been cleared from the area a few days earlier but the trees were to remain standing.

Weekly prayer breakfast held

Sixty young people and teachers braved icy road conditions Tuesday morning to attend the weekly teen prayer breakfast at South Side Church of Christ.

Rev. Charles J. Richmond closed the meditation period with a short devotional before the group went to Fellowship Hall for group singing led by Greg Sanderson, a sophomore at Washington Senior High School.

Following a breakfast, a devotional period was led by Mary Lee Warning, a sophomore at WSHS. Coach Maurice Pfeiffer dismissed the group with a prayer. The next prayer breakfast will be the final one until Jan. 9, 1973.

Winners announced by First Federal

Winners of prizes during the First Federal Savings and Loan Co. 50th anniversary celebration were announced Tuesday by Harold Thompson, manager.

First prize, a $500 savings account, went to Grace Mae Penrod, 1033 E. Paint St. Ten other savings accounts of $50 each were awarded to Robert Lutz, 523 E. Temple St.; Irene Boyer, 422 VanDeman St.; Jack C. Smith, 4 Sunny Dr.; William Trub, 627 McArthur Way; Mrs. Charles Brown, 1145 E. Paint St.; Elizabeth Eakins, 418 E. Market St.; Mary R. Health planners set priorities

The Fayette County Health Planning Council Monday night established major health planning priorities in the county for 1973, placing solid waste disposal and sewage treatment at the top of the list, appointed a nominating committee to select officers for next year and heard several committee reports.

As an aid to shaping the work program of the Mid-Ohio Health Planning Federation for 1973, a health problem and priority ranking worksheet was distributed to each Council member prior to Monday night's meeting. The priorities selected by Council members were reviewed at the meeting and the five most pressing health problems were identified.

Topping the list were solid waste disposal, sewage treatment, recruitment of medical personnel, curbing alcoholism, drug abuse and venereal disease, and coordination of community medical health programs. Also discussed at length were emergency services, sub-standard housing, hospital-related health facility complete survey information, a workshop session will be held by the CIC, possibly in January, to set the final goals of the selective search program. It will be determined at that time which industries will be best suited for this community.

THE FINAL PHASE of the program in which the state participates is the feeding of all information into a computer to compile a list of prospective industrial clients which will be given to the CIC. Once the CIC is armed with this information, it is on its own to "take the rifle approach to secure industry."

James Dunn, executive vice president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, said Tuesday morning that the Fayette County CIC is "ahead of several other communities" in the selective search program. He said this was accomplished by quick response to the survey conducted recently, enabling a step-up on the state's time schedule for completion of the other phases.

The Development Department team will conduct personalized interviews both Friday and Monday on an appointment basis with approximately eight selected leaders to complete necessary survey information, Dunn said.

Fire damages farm combine

A combine in a field along U.S. 35 near Ohio 729 was heavily damaged by fire Monday night.

Jeffersonville Fire Chief Lindy Sharrett said the blaze apparently erupted in the combine, owned by Jim Harris, when gas leaked onto the hot motor. The blaze destroyed the engine compartment and caused extensive damage to the rest of the machine.

Firemen had difficulty in reaching the combine, working in a field about a quarter-mile from the road. The fire was reported at 7:58 p.m.

Red force retreats to Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — The remnants of a North Vietnamese battalion mauled by government troops were fleeing through jungle country today back to the Parrot's Beak region of Cambodia, military sources reported.

Air strikes and artillery were harassing the retreating force, and South Vietnamese infantry units were pursuing it.

The Communist battalion from Svay Rieng, the easternmost province of Cambodia, had been in South Vietnam only five hours when it ran into a militia battalion lying in wait.

During five hours of some of the sharpest fighting in weeks, 79 North Vietnamese were killed and two were captured, the Saigon command announced. Government casualties were put at only three wounded.

Other ground action in South Vietnam was light, the Saigon command reporting only 57 enemy attacks from 6 a.m. Monday to 6 a.m. today, and 47 of them were shelling attacks.

U.S. B52s for the sixth straight day pounded North Vietnamese supply dumps and troops on the coast just north of the demilitarized zone, concentrating about 18 strikes at a spot 41 miles southeast of Dong Hoi.

Mrs. Betty Lundberg and Mrs. Edna Naylor, of the Community Health Services Committee, reported that they have been considering establishment of the "Meals on Wheels" program for disabled persons unable to adequately provide food for themselves. Such a program has been instituted in various other cities, such as Springfield and Columbus, with success.

Fayette County also is presently involved in a federal program to study the nutritional status of citizens. Representatives are in the area to make the survey in which participants are chosen by computer, both by age group and at random.

The participating citizens are asked to fill out questionnaires and are given physicals and blood work with the Youth problems Kiwanis topic

Christopher (Kit) Pierle of the National Humanities Series team, currently visiting Washington C. H., presented a talk on "Why Young People Leave Home" at a dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday night at the Lafayette Inn.

President Gerald Wheat conducted the meeting. A six-year attendance pin was presented by Howard Ford by Louis Kuhlwein, and a four-year pin was awarded to Bob Angus. Honored guests included David McCoy, regional representative for the Humanities Council.

Pierle, who was introduced by Edwin Nestor, pointed out that many small towns find their young people — in the 18 to 30 year age group — leaving for the larger cities. He cited three reasons for this phenomenon: (1) Economic — there are few jobs available in a small town; (2) social — there is little or nothing to do; (3) generation gap — no one understands them. Pierle said that if small towns would emphasize some specialty, or how they are different than other places, this could appeal to young people to hold their interest in their home town.

The annual Kiwanis Christmas Party will be held December 19 at 6 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church. It will be a carry-in supper.

'Humanities Series' gets under way here

The first in the three-part National Humanities Series program to be presented in the Washington C. H. area got under way Monday before several appreciative audiences and, despite hazardous road conditions, several more performances were scheduled Tuesday.

Washington C. H. is one of fewer than 100 communities scheduled to receive the program this year under the sponsorship of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

A team of four performers, including Christopher Pierle, a teacher and writer; Vickie Thomas, an actress and dancer; Ben Bayol, an actor and writer; and Judy Sullivan, an art historian, writer and critic, are presenting the series of programs.

The local programming is under the sponsorship of the Washington C. H. Humanities Council, of which Mrs. Robert Lee and Mrs. Barbara Lannum are co-chairmen.

THE SERIES got underway Monday morning at Washington Senior High School with 10th, 11th and 12th grade students in attendance for the performance given by Miss Sullivan, Bayol and Miss Thomas. The program was entitled "The Outsiders."

Approximately 40 people of the Community Action Commission viewed "The Outsiders" program at 1:30 p.m. in Bloomingburg Town Hall in which Bayol performed. At the same time, Miss Sullivan appeared before the Mothers' Circle in a program entitled "Why There Are No Great Women Artists." Approximately 20 women attended that performance.

There weren't many in attendance for the "Down Home" program at Carnegie Public Library at 2 p.m., but the Kiwanis Club had approximately 25 people in attendance for the presentation of the "Why Young People Leave Home" program at the Lafayette Inn at 6:15 p.m.

The final program Monday concerned "Black Poetry" and was presented to the American Association of University Women at 8 p.m. by Miss Thomas, Miss Sullivan and Bayol also appeared on Channel 3 television at 7 p.m., presenting a program about Mark Twain.

At least two of Tuesday's scheduled performances were cancelled because of weather conditions. A performance had been scheduled for 8 a.m. at Miami Trace High School, but classes were cancelled because of road conditions. The Ministerial Association also cancelled its 11 a.m. program.

"Why Young People Leave Home" will be the program presented to the Rotary Club at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday in Washington Country Club, and the entire team will combine to present a public performance in Washington Junior High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

The Tuesday night program, "For All Time," is free to the public.
